From promoting national standards and accreditation for after school programs to working with policy advisory groups, FASA's advocacy efforts help to educate the public about the benefits of quality programs for children and youth during out-of-school time.

History and Mission

The Florida After School Alliance (FASA) was founded in 1988 to support professionals in creating quality out-of-school experiences for children and youth. Since then, FASA has provided leadership, support, and training opportunities for professionals who serve school age children in a variety of after school settings including academic programs, child care centers, enrichment programs, faith-based programs, recreation centers, school-based programs, summer camps, tutoring programs, and 21st Century Community Learning Centers.

FASA's mission is to provide leadership, to support professionals, and to promote quality programs for children and youth during out-of-school hours. To accomplish its mission, FASA provides training, advocacy, and networking opportunities for after school professionals throughout the state. Many children in Florida spend as much time in year round after school programs as they do in school. Time spent in these programs offers children opportunities for growth and development.
